Chairperson's and General Manager's Reports

Two million meals!

What a milestone to have delivered to our community this year – a year which was undoubtedly one of our most challenging to date. Much like any organisation in this country, we have found that there is no such thing as a 'new normal'. Just when things look like they might be settling into 'normal', we've found a 'new' COVID-19 challenge is always just around the corner. This constant adaption and readjustment of ways of working, policies and procedures has kept Kaibosh continually on its toes.

Of course, these challenges play out against a backdrop of an inexorable rise in the need for good quality food across our region, as households and communities are squeezed by the combined effects of COVID-19 and rises in the cost of living. The need for Kaibosh, and other organisations like ours, has never been greater.

In this context, it has been humbling to see the expanded infrastructure really come into its own this year – particularly in the relocated Kāpiti branch and the key Petone branch. The investments in larger floor spaces and expanded storage/racking to handle and accommodate bulk deliveries of food by the pallet load are paying off. We are ever grateful to the major funders whose continued and very welcome support has brought these investments to fruition.

This year we have been proud to play our part in Aotearoa/New Zealand's national COVID-19 response. Our role in supporting and supplying those on the front line delivering food parcels to those in home isolation has brought us even closer to the communities we serve. We are grateful to the backing of central government, specifically from the Ministry of Social Development, in recognising that Kaibosh had a part to play making this happen.

Lastly, my heartfelt thanks to all the team at Kaibosh – old and new, staff and volunteers – who have shouldered the extra load (quite literally) throughout this time. To have achieved so much during a time of constant change is impressive, to say the least. A special recognition from the Board of Trustees to Matt Dagger, who continues to lead his team and the wider Aotearoa/New Zealand food rescue sector to deliver more than could have been thought possible.

Kathryn Robinson,
Chair of the Board of Trustees

Every year brings new challenges and new opportunities at Kaibosh.

The past 12 months have continued on this trend. Undoubtably the largest challenge for our team this past year has been the increased demand that has been put on our services with the arrival of COVID-19 in our communities and the affect that this has had on so many who were already struggling with the day-to-day realities of food insecurity.

We have seen more need from the groups that we supply to, more groups requesting food and, most distressingly, more and more direct approaches from members of the public seeking assistance. As COVID-19 has spread, the difficulties that are being faced by so many are very real and very tangible.

However, with an incredible depth of support from the communities in which we operate, we continue to do our utmost to alleviate some of these difficulties through the provision of healthy and nutritious food. It is only because of the generosity of our food donors, our funders, our volunteers and the many businesses, organisations and individuals who put so much faith in us that we can deliver our service.

This past year we have distributed over 707,500kg of quality food to 140 organizations that are supporting those in need. This is a 42% increase on the previous year – all whilst operating in a fast-moving environment where constant change and the need for adaptability remain the norm.

Personal highlights from this past year included the seamless relocation of our Kāpiti site to larger warehousing premises, the tireless help of our volunteer community who stood alongside us through all COVID-induced stops and starts, and the incredible ongoing support from funders and donors who continue to share our vision of a Greater Wellington with Zero Food Poverty and Zero Food Waste.

At the heart of our work lies an incredibly passionate, dedicated and determined group of staff. I thank each and every one of them for continuing to go the extra mile for Kaibosh and for the communities we work to assist. I count myself very fortunate to work alongside such gems of human beings.

Ngā mihi nui

General Manager
